

Cashew prices up

Written by Administrator

Saturday, 03 April 2010 02:18

Last weekend, in Binh Phuoc province, the capital of this plant, where the largest growing area of the country, the festival took place, "the Yellow Fruit 2010" is an occasion to look back from the actual set of plant .

Everyone could see the U.S. industry are favorable opportunities to develop and strengthen its position on international markets, the quality of U.S. grain importers are evaluated as the best. According to some experts, this material is very good in Vietnam, land and soil to plant suitable for the development of productivity and quality.

Even many customers around the world have found the requirements for import into their countries of origin must be specified from Vietnam.

Also, today we also had some large factories eligible to compete with foreign ownership by processing techniques have no country.

Although Vietnam's cashew confirm the brand on the world market, but manufacturers and export it still faces numerous difficulties and challenges. For example, the cost of higher export prices by the rate of finished products than raw materials high.

Then the war situation continued to buy raw materials held by the source material does not meet domestic demand.

Besides, the labor shortage is also a problem of the business sector, not to mention the productivity of workers is still low due to the nature of the industry is doing things manually.